

Five Rivers:

The History of a Special Place

If you love Five Rivers and local history, you will want to add this new book to your library.

If you've ever wondered about the geology of Five Rivers, or the first inhabitants, or some of the old buildings and stonework you see there—wonder no more! Friends of Five Rivers has published a history of the site. With ten chapters covering prehistoric times to the present, and 160+ fascinating photos and maps, Five Rivers: The History of a Special Place will ground you in a more informed understanding of this local treasure.

The book will also give you a deeper appreciation of how environmental consciousness in the United States evolved. Archaic people, Native Americans, Dutch traders, colonial farmers, railroad magnates, 19th Century New York politicians, and 1930s Civilian Conservation Corps workers all contributed to this evolving perception. Our environmental awareness today is a product of that evolution, and the work isn't done. You can see your own place in environmental history through this informative book.

The published copies of the book are available for purchase at the Visitor Center counter, by mailing this order form, or at The Book House in Stuyvesant Plaza. For more information, contact the Friends at FriendsFiveRivers@outlook.com.

Copies of the book are available by mail for $25 a copy plus $4.00 shipping charge for each copy; call for shipping charges if ordering more copies.

Please fill out the information below and mail it with your check ($25 per copy plus shipping) made out to "Friends of Five Rivers" to:

Book Sale
Friends of Five Rivers
56 Game Farm Rd.
Delmar, NY 12054

NAME: _____

ADDRESS: _____

CITY: _____ State: _____ ZIP: _____

PHONE NUMBER: (____) _____

EMAIL: _____